Child mishaps mar Easter weekend

By RICH ADAMS

A 15-year-old Waveland youth was killed Saturday after he apparently rode his bicycle into the path of a car on US-90, and two other children were injured in similar accidents during the weekend.

James W. Kennedy, 15, son of Rev. and Mrs. Bobby Kennedy of McLaurin Street in Waveland, was killed Saturday after he rode his bicycle onto US-90 and was struck by a car driven by Thomas E. Powell of Pearlman about 7 p.m., according to Waveland Police Investigator Robert Tartavouille.

The youth was rushed to Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medic and later transferred to Gulf Coast Community Hospital, where he died of multiple injuries at 9:42 p.m., Tartavouille said.

The Waveland officer said four persons witnessed the mishap, which was termed "an unavoidable accident."

No tickets were issued, Tartavouille reported.

Young Kennedy was an eighth grader at Bay St. Louis Junior High School. His funeral was conducted Monday morning at Riemann-Fahy Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis.

He was buried in the Garden of Memory cemetery in Waveland.

A five-year-old Louisiana girl was Perniclaro Jr., 34, of Bay St. Louis were found by rescuers Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively, Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr. reported.

Bourgeois' brother, Larry Bourgeois

Sr., 39, of Waveland remains missing since the explosion about 5 p.m. Monday, Ladner said.

"He is missing and right now we must presume he is dead," said Hancock County Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson. Bourgeois' body was found Tuesday night some 500 feet from the wreckage during dragging operations, the sheriff reported.

Perniclaro's body was found Wednesday morning in the same vicinity as Bourgeois' after it surfaced near the wreckage, Ladner added.

The three fishermen were apparently taking their recently repaired 35-foot Lafitte skiff on a "shake down" run when it exploded and sank in some seven feet of water between Bayou Cadet and Bayou Boland, Peterson said.

Rescuers from the Hancock County Civil Defense Department; Diamondhead, Waveland, Bay St. Louis, and Gulfport Fire Departments; Hancock County Sheriff's Department, U.S. Coast Guard, and a large number of commercial fishermen and professional volunteer divers joined in the search Monday evening until darkness made any further efforts impossible, Peterson said.

The search continued Tuesday and National Guard units manning amphibious LARC's joined the search Wednesday.

Wreckage of the boat, a portion of which was blown away and the remainder burned, was pulled from the water for examination Tuesday.

Ladner said Wednesday the search will continue until the missing Bourgeois brother is found.

Peterson said a witness saw the explosion and fire from a vantage point at Buccaneer Park in Waveland. The boat burned for some 40 minutes, the witness told officers.

Peterson said the boat was freshly fueled and carrying 95 gallons of gasoline when it exploded.

Both bodies were found during dragging operations some 500 feet east-southeast of the submerged wreckage, Ladner said.

Hancock County Coroner Carl Bandaret conducted a coroner's inquest, and ruled cause of the deaths to be accidental drowning, the sheriff added.

The men were unmarked, and officials said they believe the fishermen were possibly knocked unconscious by

Experts disagree on possible East Pearl flooding in Hancock

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Conflicting opinions prevail this week on whether flood waters currently plaguing Jackson will inundate Hancock County communities when the East Pearl River crests here next week.

Crests on the Pearl River in Jackson this week have been higher than ever before recorded.

Hancock County is safe from the flooding waters of the Pearl River, says Hancock County Civil Defense Communications Officer Jay Marsh.

However, weather specialists for the National Weather Service predict the river will crest and flood on April 26.

"The flooding will not effect us at all, but Louisiana will be affected if rising waters reach this far south, explained Marsh Tuesday.

"The Pearl River divides into the East Pearl, East Middle Pearl, Middle Middle Pearl, West Middle Pearl, and West Pearl, reducing the threat of flooding," Marsh continued.

"There is also marsh area along the river which further decreases the chances of flooding," he added.

The East Pearl River forms the Mississippi-Louisiana state line along the western side of Hancock County.

Walter Schulz of the National Weather Service in Jackson predicts the river will rise and crest on April 26 in Hancock County and bring record floods to this area.

He said flood stage for the river in Hancock County is 12 feet, and explained the river crested at 13.2 feet Monday and Tuesday.

"The river will rise and crest at 17 feet on April 26 in Hancock County," Schulz elaborated.

The specialist explained that rain is likely to move across the lower basin of the Pearl River.

"The waters have caused record floods down to Columbia, and I predict record floods in Hancock County," Schulz said.

He said the flooding will be the product of a slow, gradual rise of the river.

Curtis Barrett, a hydrologist in the River Forecast Center of the National Weather Service in Slidell, La., agrees

Firemen initiate tornado relief

By ELLIS CUEVAS

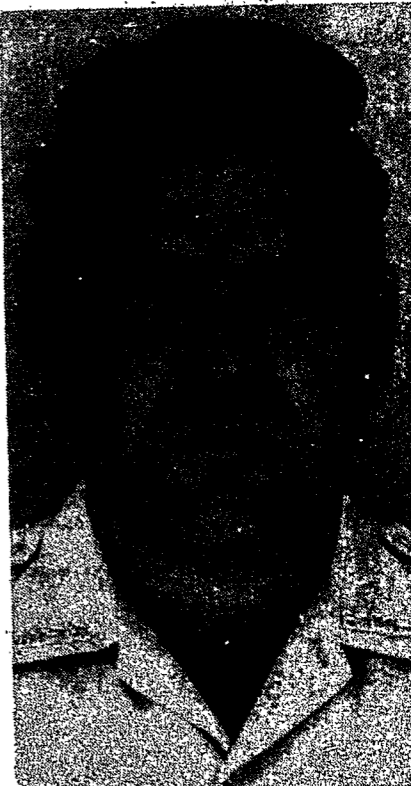

A special appeal is being made by the Bay St. Louis Fire Department on behalf of Wichita Falls, Texas tornado victims.

The fire department is collecting clothing, bedding, kitchen utensils, canned goods, furniture and cash to help the unfortunates who lost everything in the big tornado.

A spokesman for the fire department said cash will be used to help defray the cost of shipping the merchandise. If there is a surplus of cash it will be sent to the fire departments in Wichita for distribution.

Bay Fire Chief Richard Fayard said his department would be happy to pick up any contributions. Just call 467-4736.

"Please do not use the emergency fire number," requested Chief Fayard. Due to this recent flooding in Mississippi after the first shipment is sent to Wichita, the local drive will continue to aid fellow Mississippians.

Floyd R. Fricke, a former auxiliary sheriff's deputy, has announced his candidacy for Beat One constable in the August primary election.

Fricke, 41, a native of Bay St. Louis, is the owner and operator of F&F Welding Service on Lower Bay Road in Hancock County.

He is a graduate of Bay St. Louis Senior High School and a veteran of the U.S. Army in which he served with the military police in Korea for two years.

He formerly served as a Hancock County auxiliary sheriff's deputy under two sheriffs, and served as an auxiliary deputy in Texarkana, Texas.

He and his wife, the former Virginia Scarborough of Texarkana, reside on Lower Bay Road with four of their five children, Gene, 14; Cheryl, 13; Sandra, 8; and Ruth, 7.

They also have a married daughter, Mrs. Albert Wiley, and one grandchild.

"I will appreciate your support and support in my candidacy," Fricke said.

parently ran from the beach into the path of a car driven by Raymond M. Oltman of Chalmette, La. at 3:10 p.m. Sunday, police said.

She was taken to Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medic and transferred to Gulf Coast Community Hospital.

A hospital spokesman Wednesday said the child has been released from intensive care, but would not elaborate further on her condition or the extent of injuries.

A seven-year-old Long Beach youth was injured Saturday afternoon as he was struck at the intersection of Central Avenue and 16th Street in Shoreline Park while on his bicycle, according to Hancock County Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson.

Kevin Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Hicks of 284 Lynwood Circle in Long Beach was hit by a truck driven by Richard Fitzsimmons of Waveland approximately 4:30 p.m. Saturday, police said.

The youth was taken to Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medic and later moved to Gulf Coast Community Hospital, authorities reported.

That accident was also termed "unavoidable" by Peterson, who said no tickets have been issued.

The incident is under investigation by Hancock County Sheriff's Deputy Paul Bernard and Auxiliary Deputy Harold Heine.

A spokesman at Gulf Coast Community Hospital said Wednesday Hicks with Schulz's forecast of an April 28 flooding of Hancock County. Barrett said the flooding, slow and gradual, will crest on April 26, going four or five feet over its banks, but added the level is "not very serious."

Levern Hughes, a bridge operator on the Pearl River, said the water has risen this week, but added the rise "was not that noticable."

Hughes said the water was noticeably higher Tuesday morning than it was Monday night, covering warfs near the bridge.

Mrs. Roy Baxter, a Hancock County resident who has lived on the river all her life and currently operates a marina on the river with her husband in Pearlinton, said she believes news reports which predict flooding will begin in Hancock County in "another week to 10 days."

"It'll flood," Mrs. Baxter said. "I've been living on the East Pearl all my life."

"A corner of the marina here flooded two weeks ago," she added.

Supervisor assists Bay in upgrading public pier

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Hancock County Supervisor Oscar Peterson proposed the building of a dock and steps adjacent to the Community pier at the head of Uman Avenue.

The Bay St. Louis city council, at its regular meeting Tuesday opened two bids for the projects. Peterson requested the City pay $100 for the steps and $100 for the deck.

One bidder, P and M Construction of Bay St. Louis offered $400 for the steps and $475 for the deck. Other bidder was Ladd Construction with bids of $523 and $570 respectively.

Council showed a concern of liability for the steps and platform and were told by Council Attorney that the City was responsible until it is accepted by the County.

A suggestion was made to add the steps and platform to the liability insurance with L.L. Kergosen, who has the Parks and Playgrounds Coverage for liability.

A request was made that the vice-president of the Parks and Play Grounds be notified by telephone after the meeting by the Council.

A telephone conversation with Ginn late yesterday confirmed that the insurance coverage had been taken care of for the project.

Councilman Fred Wagner made the motion for the acceptance of the low bid with the stipulation they were acting on behalf of the Board of Supervisors.

In other Council business, Wagner was appointed with Mayor Larry Bennett as alternate as the representatives of Bay St. Louis on the Gulf Coast Waste and Management Committee.

Joe Brown Jr. of Brown Engineers Inc., in reporting on the Bouslog project, requested an extension for the contractor to finish the blacktopping.

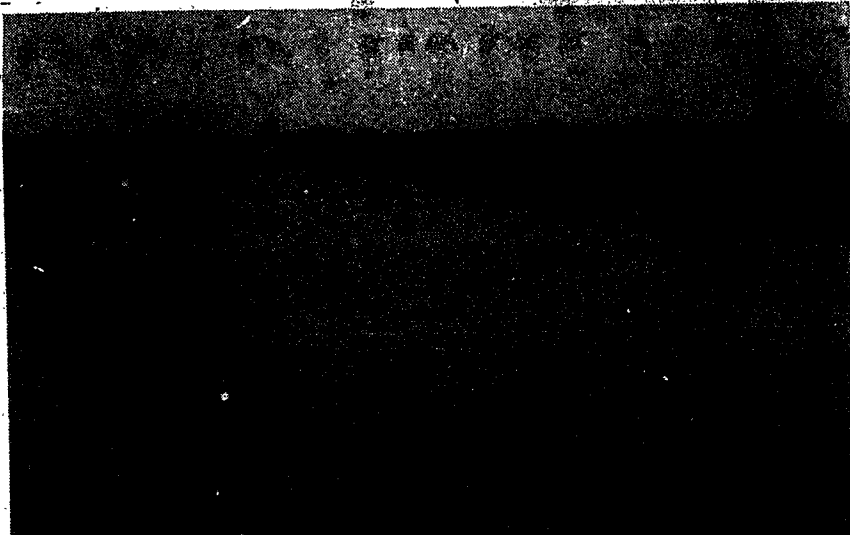

Brown said he was reluctantly submitting the fourth change order for Graham Construction to wrap up the job.

"I've had several conferences with Graham during the last couple weeks. He thinks he has enough workmen on the job, I don't think so. I'm not requesting any more change orders unless it rains every one of the 14 days of this extension," Brown said.

Brown recommended that after the 14 day work extension, if the job is not complete there will be a $100 a day liquidation charge be levied against the contractor until the project is complete.

The Council granted Brown's request for the last extension giving the contractor until April 30 to wrap up the job.

Deaths and injuries from tractor accidents are declining, according to Dannie Reed, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service farm safety specialist, who offers suggestions for furthering the downward trend.

Operate and maintain tractors according to instruction manuals. Stay clear of ditches, steep slopes, holes, obstacles and other tractor tippers.

Reduce travel speed when turning, crossing slopes and operating on rough, muddy or slippery surfaces.

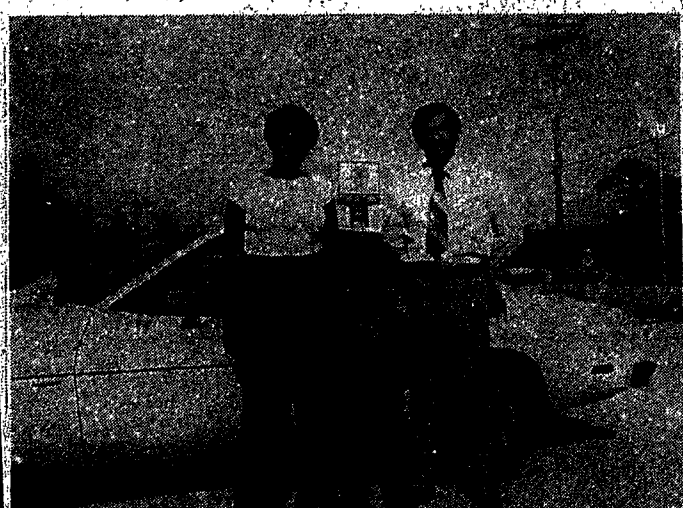

Keep children off and away from tractors and other farm equipment. Hitch heavy loads to the drawbar only.

With front-end loaders, keep the load low and the speed slow. If necessary, add rear ballast to maintain stability.

Keep the power take-off shield in place. Allow only trained, competent people to operate tractors.

Drive with extra care on public roads. Obey all traffic laws. Be sure your slow-moving vehicle emblem is clean and visible from the rear. Replace damaged or faded emblems.

Equip tractors with roll-over protective structure cabs or frames, and wear safety seat belts to reduce the risk of injury in case of an overturn.

Vocational Rehabilitation Services Are Available

questions and answers

Most all disabled people, whether or not they are eligible for social security disability benefits, may receive vocational rehabilitation services, a social security spokesperson said recently.

People who apply for and meet the basic requirements for social security disability benefits are considered for possible rehabilitation services. But, the representative said that people who do not apply or who do not meet the basic requirements for benefits may still be eligible for these services.

People in this later group can contact the agency providing services in this State directly.

Rehabilitation services which may be offered include:

- Counseling and guidance in working out a plan which may include achieving self-support.
- Medical examination and help, possibly including surgical or hospital services to reduce or remove the disability.
- Physical aids such as artificial limbs, braces, hearing aids, eyeglasses, or other devices.
- Job training may be provided in a vocational school, college or university, or a rehabilitation facility.
- Job placement and follow-up to help the disabled person find the right job and help him or her adjust to a new occupation.

More information about rehabilitation services can be obtained at any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory.

Q. A friend of mine has a 17-year-old daughter who is retarded. Could the child get SSI payments on the basis of disability?

A. A retarded child under 18 (or under 21 and attending school) is considered disabled for SSI purposes if his or her IQ is 59 or less. A retarded child with a higher IQ also may be considered disabled depending on whether the child has a physical or other mental impairment and the degree to which the child depends on others, or the child's ability to achieve developmental milestones. For more information, ask for the booklet, SSI for retarded people at any social security office.

Q. I've heard that the deductible and the daily amounts which Medicare hospital insurance doesn't pay were raised for 1979. What are the new amounts?

A. Starting January 1, 1979, the Medicare hospital insurance deductible is $160, increased from $144. This means that for the 1st through 60th day in each benefit period, hospital insurance pays for all covered services except the first $160. From the 61st through 90th day in each benefit period, hospital insurance pays for all covered services except for $40 a day (up from $36 a day). For each inpatient hospital reserve day used, hospital insurance pays for all covered services except for $80 a day (up from $72). And, for the 21st through 100th day in a skilled nursing facility, hospital insurance pays for all covered services except for $20 a day (increased from $18).

Goal of Solar Home . . .

Affordable Solar Heat

Blowers and dampers move solar-heated air from 27 roof collectors through the BDP Company Solar Research and Demonstration Home. The system operates in five different modes depending on the need for heat and the availability of solar or stored heat.

If the basic suburban ranch house were solar heated, what would it be like?

It probably would be much like a trim 1,312-square foot ranch on the outskirts of Indianapolis—the Solar Research and Demonstration Home of the BDP Company.

A major manufacturer of home heating and cooling equipment, BDP's goal is to make solar heat economically practical for middle income families. The company, which manufactures Bryant, Day & Night, and Payne equipment, hopes to learn how much energy a solar system actually saves in a home with such "average" features as single glaze windows, no storm doors, R-19 wall insulation and paneled construction.

A by-product of the research now being done is helping stis-

Local medic returns from Latin mission

Sidney A. Chevis MD, family practice physician with offices on Dunbar Avenue, recently returned from a short-term mission to Honduras sponsored by the Medical Group Missions programs of the Christian Medical Society.

Doctor Chevis was among a group of 148 participants which included physicians, surgeons, dentists and their assistants, nurses, paramedical and support personnel who conducted a two week general medical, surgical and dental program in the area of La Ceiba, a port on the north coast of Honduras, bordering on the Caribbean.

La Ceiba is the headquarters of the Standard Fruit Company in Honduras, and their personnel have given invaluable assistance to MGM each of the eleven years in which a project has been conducted.

Team members traveled to outlying villages to conduct clinics, and surgery was performed in hospitals in La Ceiba where general medical and dental consultations were also held.

Participants in the project paid all their own expenses and contributed medical supplies to help supplement those purchased by MGM.

The Christian Medical

Society, with headquarters in Oak Park, Illinois, is an association of Christian physicians and dentists who seek to witness to the Christian faith in and through the medical and dental professions.

Participation in Medical Group Missions is open to any interested person.

USDA suspends Picayune store

Thompson's Quick Stop of Picayune has been dropped from the food stamp program because of violators, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service reports.

Owned by Regis Thompson, the store was disqualified from the program for one year, starting Jan. 27, after being charged with selling beer, cigarettes and other ineligible items for food coupons.

Bernard Turkia, who is in charge of the Jackson field office of the Food and Nutrition Service, explained that the store will not be allowed to accept food coupons during the disqualification period.

Turkia added that food stamps, by law, can be used only to buy food. The only exceptions, he said, are garden seed and plants to be used to produce food.

The recent accident at the Three Mile Island Power Plant in Pennsylvania raised some important questions about the future of nuclear power. Although the accident was frightening, the questions now facing us must be decided rationally, rather than emotionally. Thankfully, no one was harmed by the Pennsylvania accident, but greater safeguards need to be developed to prevent such mishaps in the future.

A major factor which must be considered in the debate over the future of nuclear energy is the danger inherent in our heavy dependence on foreign oil. About 50 percent of our oil requirements is imported. It is difficult to imagine how crippled we would be should the supply of foreign oil be suddenly cut off.

We must reduce oil imports through energy conservation, development of other energy sources (such as coal, solar, geothermal, etc.), and increased production in our own oil fields. Although some headway is being made in all of those areas, they will be insufficient to meet the demand. Only nuclear power holds a realistic promise of supplying our energy needs and significantly reducing our unhealthy dependence on foreign oil.

There are already 72 commercial reactors in the United States, generating some 12 percent of our electrical capacity. I believe the two plants under construction in Mississippi will prove great assets in the years ahead.

Public health and safety must come first in our considerations. We must put our great technology to use and come up with ways to reasonably assure nuclear safety -- in the plants and in the transportation and storage of nuclear wastes. The nuclear era is, after all, only 20 years old. We can not expect all of the problems with nuclear energy to be solved overnight. Continued experience should make for greater safety.

The Senate is planning hearings which will provide an honest and open assessment of nuclear power, including the issues of transportation and storage of nuclear waste. I will continue to do all I can to protect the interest and welfare of the people of Mississippi as I take an active role in the development of the facts. We must solve this problem because nuclear energy is crucial to our future.

Council hires professional help in repairing gas lines

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Bay Council Tuesday was unanimous in approving a motion to have the firm of Dr. Michael Smith, Advanced Designs, Inc. (ADI), prepare a proposal for improvements on gas lines on St. John, Julia and Washington Streets.

Council had intentions of trying to have city crews tackle the 500 block of St. John until Utilities Superintendent Bill Johnson told the members he didn't think city employees could do the job.

"My people don't do this everyday and you are talking about welding. We have to keep records of any welding on the city gas lines for the public service commission," stated Johnson.

Council immediately agreed with Johnson, and then discussed possibilities of how to go about the repair of the gas lines.

Councilman Pete Benvenuti said since Michael Smith's firm was doing a utilities survey for the City, "Why don't we get a proposal from him."

Benvenuti made the motion with Harry Farve giving it a second and passing unanimously.

Council asked Kelly McQueen, city finance officer if there were any funds available to replace the gas line especially on St. John Street and they were told he could look into the utilities funds to see if anything was available.

There was some discussion on a cathodic survey of the gas system after Mayor Larry Bennett requested some direction from the Council, saying, "I am at a standstill."

A 1975 general corrosion survey was discussed and the possibility of having it updated considered.

The Council requested the mayor and utilities superintendent to check into the possibility of having this done.

In other business Mayor Bennett submitted an estimate from Jay Eagan of 30 to 35 days for the cleaning of the drainage ditch from Spanish Acres to the Beach.

The bid of Eagan was the lowest submitted to the city earlier for a dragline and operator. The cost estimate was $7,400 to $8,400 for the project.

The drainage along the tracks and under the railroad is in need of improvement and the Council asked Mayor Bennett to contract R.R. officials on the matter.

The estimated length of the Central drainage ditch is approximately two miles, according to Bennett. Earlier discussions last fall reported trees growing in the drainage and complete blockage in some areas.

Council decided to act at a later date on the mayor's recommendation after contacting the railroad.

Minutes of the Electrical Examining Board meeting were read and accepted. Luke Scanna and Gerry Poolson, Jr. were reported as passing the electrical examination.

McQueen reported to the Council that funds are available for payment to Burk and Associates on some of the engineering fees owed them.

McQueen was told to pay the bills as funds became available when the Council and Burk made an agreement at an earlier meeting.

Council requested a letter be written to Burk telling them they had some money for them, and that they still were waiting for a report on the Main Street Project from a meeting over 30 days ago with the state and federal engineers.

McQueen also reported some short term deposits by the City making 10 to 10.5 percent interest. When asked how he selected where to place the funds McQueen said, "I call and get the best rate."

Councilman Fred Wagner, reported that "It was good to give the best rate preference, but, because of the special considerations given the City Merchants Bank and the way they have gone out of their way they should be considered."

During the meeting, Council reported there would be a meeting between Brown Engineers, Inc., and the contractor at 8 a.m. Wednesday (yesterday) to discuss the Carroll Avenue cave-in.

W and S. Construction owner, B Baxter Wade met with Council members, the mayor, utilities superintendent and city workers.

The contractor told the group he would "uncut the hole and place some sand in it to relieve the water which is coming to the top." The the explosion and drowned in the water near the boat.

Ladner said Wednesday the Bay St. Louis unit of the Army National Guard was planning to take their Light Amphibious Cargo Resupply (LARC) vessels into the area and search the waters from Bayou Cadet to Point Clair in case the other fishermen did survive and swim to the small island.

Waveland Fire Marshal Lee Farrell said a strong falling tide flowing to the northeast at the time of the mishap would have taken the bodies to the southern tip of Waveland.

"We are getting good cooperation from fishermen and volunteers in the rescue operations," Peterson said.

Funeral arrangements for the recovered fishermen are incomplete at Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis.

Commission seeks Cadet operator

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors this week agreed to advertise for an operator to manage the Bayou Cadet Marina.

County Port and Harbor Commission Director Wilson Webre suggested an operator be hired for the marina after problems arose last week between the commission and fishermen who use the harbor.

"Either close the marina or run it right," Webre exclaimed at the supervisors' meeting Monday.

Webre said the Commission's recent attempt at preventing fishermen from illegally tying into an electrical source from an unused icehouse at the marina was primarily to prevent persons from being killed by electrical shock.

He added numerous problems, including theft, have arisen from the lack of an operator at the facility.

"I don't think anyone is working more for the fisherman's interest than I am," he declared.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner accused Webre of acting harshly with Hancock County fishermen in the past. "Fishermen and farmers have a hard life and we should try to provide for them," pleaded Ladner.

Mrs. Cathy Holzhauser, wife of Hancock County Fishermen's Association President Thomas Holzhauser, complained, "Webre waits until we get ready to go shrimping before he says anything. All winter long he didn't say anything about the electricity, but now he wants to turn the electricity off at the marina."

"We approached the board last year and offered to pay the electricity bill and the board told us not to worry about it," she continued.

She complained Webre had called the county fishermen's association names such as a "paper bag outfit."

"We don't meet once a month, but when we need to be together--we are," exclaimed the association president's wife.

Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge moved the board apologize for all adverse statements made about the fishermen's association by the commission. The motion was unanimously approved.

Board Attorney Walter Gex suggested the fishermen's association seek "someone whom they can work with to bid for the position of operator" as a solution to its problems.

Also at Monday's meeting, Michael Haas, attorney for Kiln Fire and Water District, explained the Board of Supervisors must supply $10,000 in additional funds to the district.

Haas said Federal Aviation Administration regulations require a change in location of an elevated water tank a change which will cost an additional $10,000.

He told the board the additional funds had been sought from other sources, but were not available.

The Board agreed to provide the $10,000.

Haas also commended the Hancock County Farm Bureau for assisting the project, saying, "The Farm Bureau may not be a public agency, but they sure do act like they came to our rescue." The bureau provided land on which to construct the water tower.

To make a weatherization program more efficient, a spokesman for the program, Athalia Pienas, asked Supervisors to serve on an advisory council to select eligible homes for the project.

The Pienas explained homes meeting federal guidelines could receive up to $650 funds for weatherization.

She announced the program calls for 43 homes to be weatherized in Hancock County. Construction is provided by CETA workers.

A supervisor, a secretary and several laborers are presently needed under the program, said the spokesman.

"I have requested the employment service fill the laborer positions with whites, because we already employ four blacks as laborers working under the program," Pienas stated.

Supervisors James Travira, Sam Perniciaro and Alton Kellar announced they would serve on the advisory council.

Chancery Court Clerk John Rutherford stated he will also serve on the advisory council, but he will not select houses to be weatherized.

Supervisors also received requests from Hancock North Central Principal Thad Haskins.

Haskins requested the Board re-route a road which travels through the HNC's campus. He additionally requested the Board construct a parking lot adjacent to HNC's football field.

The Board authorized an engineer to study the problem to determine the most feasible solution for moving the road.

As for the parking lot, Supervisors said they will visit the school and examine the problem first hand.

FLOODING NO PROBLEM, SO FAR--Levon Hughes, a bridge operator on the East Pearl River, says he doesn't believe the river will flood much along the banks of Hancock County. Hughes, who has worked as an operator on the East Pearl for three years, pointed out that one of the homes near the bridge floods everytime the "tide gets really high." Hughes added the East Pearl will flood very little if it floods at all. (Staff photo-Leslie Williams)

Pass resident dies in N.O. violence

A 32-year old former Pass Christian resident who had just moved to New Orleans died shortly after being found, bludgeoned and bloody, in his bed, authorities said.

Henry Ritayik, a former resident of 635 E. Beach Blvd., Pass Christian, had apparently been beaten several times on the forehead, possibly with a hammer, according to a police spokesman.

Police said there was no sign of forced entry, but neighbors had told investigators the elderly man often left his door ajar.

John Ruiz, his landlord and long-time friend, said Ritayik was barely alive about 6 a.m. when Ruiz came to pick him up for a trip to the Mississippi Coast.

"I went up and saw him lying in bed with his face covered in blood," Ruiz said. "He seemed to be breathing, so I held him up and wiped the blood out of eyes and face and tried to give him artificial respiration. And that was it."

There was no way to know whether anything had been stolen, said Detective Charles Albright, but the apartment did not appear to have been ransacked. However, he said, the killing will be classified for record-keeping purposes as an aggravated burglary-murder.

Ritayik, who was formerly associated with the national firm of Sterling Durg Co., was a wealthy landowner with properties in Harrison, Hancock and Jackson counties.

A musical selection was rendered by members of the St. Stanislaus band. Concluding the program was a French poem by OLA students Leslie Staehle and Cindy Regan.

Latin and French projects were exhibited by St. Stanislaus and OLA students Skip Horne, Robert Zanca, Daniel McDermott, Elizabeth Williamson, Celeste McKenzie, Luke Jackson and Luis Cordova.

The Foreign language classes at Bay Senior High displayed projects at a language fair held in the foyer of the gymnasium on April 18. Judges for the event were Mrs. Sam Whitfield and Mrs. Randy Ponder.

Spanish projects were not judged, but the following students won ribbons in the French and Latin divisions:

Michelle Romine captured the tricolor ribbon for the best project in the show, a decorated schroll displaying a printed chronological chart of the principal events in the political and social history of Rome.

Vickie Young received the blue and gold ribbon as a special award for originality. Her project was the recitation of a story from ancient Rome, using as background music a tape recording of herself playing a piano composition of her own, written especially for this narration.

News from the Church of St. Ann

A thought for the day from the library of Father Canisius Hayes, pastor St. Ann's Parish

A wise lover values not so much the gift of the lover as the love of the giver.

Thomas A Kempis

St. Ann's Altar Society met April 10 in parish hall with Mrs. Leonard Rupp, president, conducting the business session.

Mrs. Madonna Boos, chairman, reminded everyone of the annual pre-fair meatball and spaghetti supper scheduled for Saturday, April 21 in the parish hall after 5 p.m. Mass.

Mrs. Rupp announced the monthly luncheon and social will be held at noon Wednesday, April 25, in parish hall. Donation will be $1.50 per person and the public is invited.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. May 8 in parish hall.

Father Hayes wants to thank everyone who helped make the Altar Society's annual Easter cake sale a success.

Plans are being made for a pre-fair rummage sale to be held in May; the date will be announced later. Anyone who wants to donate clothing or other articles for the sale can bring them to St. Ann's rectory.

Religious education classes for grades first through fourth are held on Tuesday after school in St. Ann's parish hall and on Thursdays for grades fifth through eighth.

Sister Mary CCornelia, parish religious coordinator, announced classes will be held every Tuesday and Thursday after school for children preparing to receive their First Holy Communion.

A meeting for parents of children preparing for their First Holy Communion will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday, April 24, in parish hall, Sister added.

Look for business reputation in purchasing big ticket items

By NORINE BARNES

Extension Specialist

Where you shop will determine, to some extent, the value you get for your money. Ask about the reputation of a seller or business. Most people are happy to discuss both good and bad experiences, they have had in the market place.

A business' reputation for honesty, reliability and good service is especially important in making an expensive purchase there. The business' attitude toward consumer satisfaction should also be considered.

Friendliness is a good quality, but not always a mark of honesty. Don't be persuaded to buy from a business just because the owner is friendly.

Learn to evaluate sales approach. The way a salesman approaches you tells a lot about the company and the salesman.

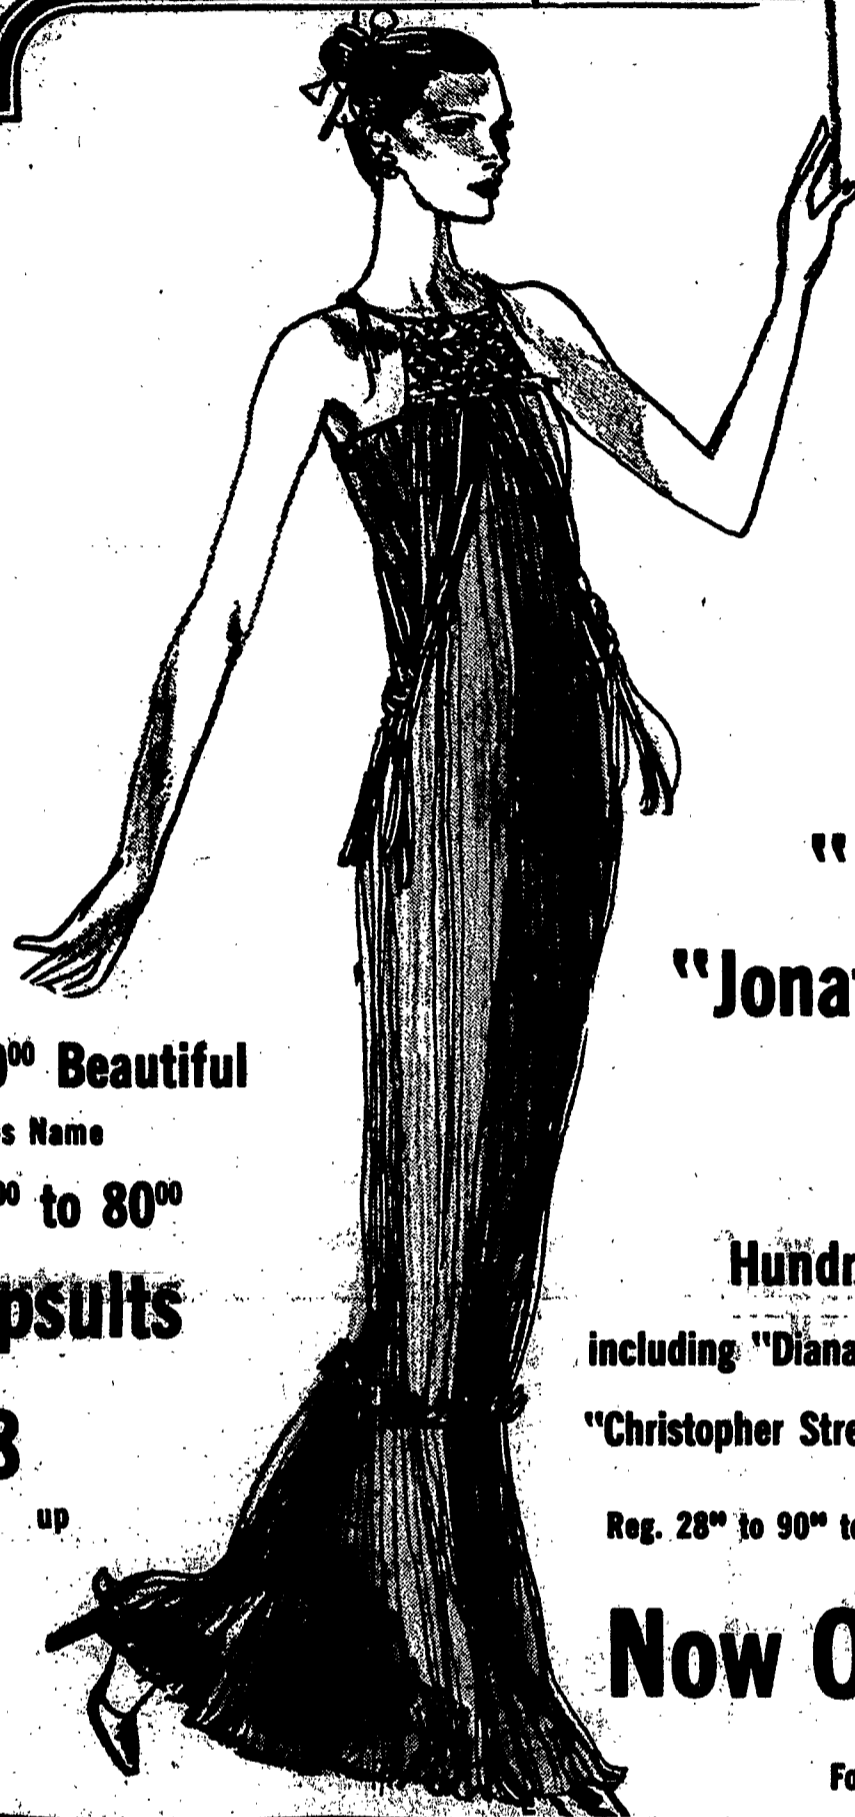

Ethical business men and women do not permit deceptive practices such as fake sales, bait and switch, and high pressure selling. Be leery if any claims promise a miraculous result.

Advertisements help you know where to shop. Anticipate your needs and study the ads through use of newspapers.

The label "discount store" does not always mean a discount. Prices for some items are less, but some prices may be even more than at a regular store.

Think about where you shop! It could make a difference in the amount of money you spend!

FIRST CHECK—Michael Eugene Wilkins, 25, of Bay St. Louis receives his first check under a prison work release program from Hancock County District Four Supervisor Sam Perniclaro, right. Wilkins, under the sponsorship of Perniclaro, has been released under a new prisoner work program designed to relieve the overcrowded conditions of the Mississippi State Penitentiary at Parchman and county jails as well. He was sentenced to three years in April, 1978 on marijuana charges and served 11 months of that sentence in the Hancock County jail before joining the work release program last month. Wilkins, who will be eligible for parole in June, will work for the county until that time. Perniclaro is negotiating to secure the release of other eligible prisoners from the County Jail under the new program. (Staff photo-Edgar Peres)

Fifteen photographs chosen from more than 10,000 entries have been named prize-winners in National Wildlife magazine's ninth annual photo contest. The color photographs, which depict wildlife in America and people enjoying the outdoors, appear in the April-May issue of the National Wildlife Federation's bi-monthly publication.

Top winner in the "Wildlife in America" category was Jeff Vanuga, a 22-year-old student from Logan, Utah. His winning photo was of a pack of nine hungry raccoons which "surprised the heck out of us" as he and a companion paddled a canoe down Florida's Weekie Wachie River.

Entries for the 1980 National Wildlife photo contest are now being accepted. Deadline for entries is October 15.

A total of $2,000 in prizes will be awarded. In addition, a trip for two to a National Wildlife Federation Conservation Summit in the Blue Ridge, Adirondack, or Rocky mountains will be awarded to the grand prize winner.

All winning photographs will be published in the April-May, 1980 issue of National Wildlife.

The theme of the 1980 contest is "Nature in America." All entries must be in color, must be taken within the U.S., and all plants or animals depicted must be indigenous to the U.S. Slides are preferred, but prints up to 8" x 10" are acceptable. Entries are limited to five per person.

Each entry must bear the name, address, and telephone number of the photographer and should be sent with a brief description of where, when, and how the shot was taken, the make and model of the camera and lens used, and the exposure setting.

Originality and execution will be the criteria for judging. All entries will be returned by January 31, 1980, and should be accompanied with a self-addressed, stamped

CHEVY CITATION.

Citation goes a long way on a tank of gas. But that's just the start. Citation has the traction of front wheel drive, rack-and-pinion steering, front disc brakes, and a transverse-mounted engine that's cradled in rubber-cushioned mountings to reduce engine vibration. Sleek Citation is easy to park, yet big enough for five adults and lots of cargo. See Chevy Citation for yourself. And to really appreciate it, get behind the wheel.

EPA ESTIMATED MPG 24 CITY ESTIMATE 38 HIGHWAY ESTIMATE With standard 4-cylinder engine and manual transmission

Remember: Compare the estimated MPG to the "estimated MPG" of other cars. You may get different mileage depending on your speed, trip length, and weather. Your actual mileage will be lower in heavy city traffic, and your actual highway mileage will probably be less than the estimated highway fuel economy. The "estimated MPG" is more likely to reflect actual overall mileage than the "combined estimate". Chevrolet cars are equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions.

Relax Before It's Too Late

All of us have had days now and then — times when schedules get snarled, things break, people are ornery and the whole world seems wrong. But some individuals seem to have days like this every day — and they may be headed for trouble.

It's true that the modern world is full of stress. The pace is fast, the choices are bewildering. Some of us seem to be able to cope with the situation complacently, while others feel frazzled, irritable and nervous. If you find yourself or a good friend in the latter group, better take stock.

People who are always jumpy, cranky and restless appear to be more likely to suffer heart attacks than easy-going people. This difference was pointed out more than a decade ago when a study traced a connection between Type A Behavior and coronary heart disease. Type A Behavior is characterized by impatience, aggressiveness and a preoccupation with time deadlines. The Type A people seem always under stress and to have more heart attacks than the more relaxed Type B's. Type A's are also more likely to have high blood pressure — in itself a risk factor for certain types of coronary heart disease.

Researchers have noted that as the stresses of life increase, some people try to help themselves cope by indulging in habits that further add to the risk of heart disease. Some become heavy smokers. Some become overly dependent on alcohol and/or eating. Some say they are too tired or too busy to exercise.

How can we counteract stress? Few of us can afford to drop out and escape to the hills. We need to earn a living and provide for our basic wants. Chances are you, like others, must continue in a competitive world. But you can decrease your risk of heart attack with a three-step plan.

Ag Affairs

AG EXPORTS SIGNIFICANT

By ED BLAKE

Mississippi's agricultural exports for 1977 surged ahead of those of any other deep South state east of the Mississippi River as this state claimed the position of the 13th largest exporter of agricultural commodities.

Ships loading out from the ports of Pascagoula and Gulfport transported a whopping 38.4 percent of Mississippi's total agricultural production into the channels of world trade.

Deep South states edged out by Mississippi's emergence as a leading agricultural exporter were Louisiana, Georgia, Kentucky, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama and South Carolina.

The trade in Mississippi farm commodities for '77 carried with it a total price tag of $648 million with soybeans bringing the biggest chips at $243 million. Cotton was in second place, bringing $187 million - followed at a considerable distance and in order by protein meal, rice, soybean oil, cottonseed oil, poultry products, hides and skins, and others.

The rising trend in Mississippi exports is reflected in a 185 percent increase in volume between 1972 and 1978. And in 1978 Mississippi farmers received $2-out of every $5 generated by total agricultural and industrial exports.

Industrially, Mississippi's manufactured exports for 1978 lagged considerably behind her sister deep South states east of the Mississippi of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia. And nationwide, all of the Dixie states were overwhelmed in manufacturing exports by California, Texas, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York.

These tall-tale figures point out "significantly" again that Mississippi's major contribution to the nation and world is an agricultural one, even though the higher cash value of manufactured products in 1976 gave Mississippi industry a slight edge in total dollar volume sales over agriculture. This is not actually a true edge, however, due to the fact that these manufacturers included agricultural raw materials. Industry's total export dollars for '76 was $898 million, while agriculture's for 1977 was $648. Note the comparison '76 and '77 figures as recently released by the Department of Commerce. Same year figures were not given.

Nationally, farm exports accounted for one out of every four dollars of farm sales in 1977, while exports accounted for one out of every nine manufacturing jobs in 1978.

The United States is the world's largest exporter despite the overwhelming tide of trinkets - big and little - from Asian nations. Currently the U.S. is selling more than $140 billion annually of U.S. goods abroad. The basic importance of this trade is that exports are the principal means by which America pays for its purchases from foreign nations. The U.S. imports proportionately far less than other major countries, but imports have become increasingly important to the American standard of living, especially oil.

While the figures in this article represent growth, unfortunately our nation's export growth is not sufficiently rapid enough to control our trade deficit or to compete with other industrial nations in recent years.

Mississippi's main contribution to world exports is a combination of agriculture and industry, or processed agricultural products. As an example, Mississippi's largest exports valued at $408 million were paper products, manufactured food, and transportation equipment - accounting for nearly three-fifths of the state total of manufactured exports. Mississippi was the third largest U.S. exporter of paper manufacturers with almost a third of that production sold overseas.

Mississippi ranks third nationally in cotton exports and second only to Louisiana in fish oil exports.

Pros offer advice for PH&R competition

The 1979 Pitch, Hit, and Run booklet will feature expert advice from Ron Guldry of the New York Yankees, Jim Rice of the Boston Red Sox, and Davey Lopes of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Pitch, Hit, and Run competition will begin in mid-May for the local Bay St. Louis competition, according to Local Director Billy Rhodes. In the booklet, available free from any Burger King restaurant during April, will feature Guldry's pitching tips, Rice's hitting hints, and Lopes' running instructions.

Guldry, the 1978 Cy Young Award winner, cautions young pitchers to throw only fast balls.

"The curveball motion," he says, "might damage the young arm which is still growing."

"Take your time and work carefully. But above all, have fun," Guldry added.

In winning the 1978 Cy Young Award, the 25-year-old Guldry became only the fourth unanimous selection for the honor since it was initiated in 1956.

Rice, the 1978 American League Most Valuable Player, is recognized as one of the most productive hitters in baseball.

The 25-year-old slugger hit 315 last year and led the majors in home runs with 46 and RBI with 130.

He tells youngsters there are five basic parts to becoming a good hitter:

confidence, concentration, stance, swing and discipline.

Lopes, the LA Dodger second baseman, has been called "the greatest base stealer in the game today" by another Dodger great, Maury Wills.

Lopes broke a 53-year-old record in 1975 by stealing 38 consecutive bases, and the year before that shattered a 70-year-old record by stealing five bases in one game.

"When I run bases, I am as aggressive as I can be," Lopes said.

"I don't give the other team a chance to catch me off guard, and this keeps them under pressure and my team on top," he added.

In addition to expert advice, the booklet also contains the official PH&R registration form which may be deposited at any Burger King entry box.

Also included is a baseball quiz, crossword puzzle, official PH&R score card and rules, iron-on decal, and conditioning tips.

AMERICAN LEAGUE MOST Valuable Player, Jim Rice of the Boston Red Sox, gives a youngster hints on hitting in preparation for the upcoming Burger King Hit, Pitch, and Run competition. Now in its third year, the competition offers a chance for approximately 2.4 million boys and girls 9-12 to show their baseball skills by throwing at a target, hit for distance, and running for speed. Registration forms for the event may be obtained at any Burger King restaurant through April 30, with Bay St. Louis competition slated for mid-May. PH&R is co-sponsored by the National Recreation and Park Association.

Update

Stanislaus rocks Jackets

St. Stanislaus defeated McGill-Toolen of Mobile, Ala. in a pitcher's duel after Rock-A-Chaw third baseman Fred Keel doubled, advanced on a passed ball, and scored on a wild pitch in the fourth inning.

Scott Cox held McGill-Toolen to three hits to advance his personal record to 6-4 for the season.

He struck out six and walked one during the game. Addison walked two and fanned two while allowing only four hits.

The win brought the SSC crew to a season tally of 18-6.

HNC Hawks flood Pearl River

Hancock North Central Hawk third baseman Brian Arcement scored from third base on a throwing error in the eighth inning as the Hawks flooded the Pearl River team 6-5 Monday in a high school baseball contest.

Mark Hoda, pitching for the HNC squad, went six innings to strike out six and allow two walks for the win.

The Hawks are now 5-7 for the season.

Stram to open Bay Little League season

Former Kansas City Chief and New Orleans Saints Coach Hank Stram will be the celebrity guest in Bay St. Louis Saturday, May 5 at this year's Bay St. Louis Little League Kick Off.

Little League President Donn Murray said the coach of the former superbowl winning Chiefs, now a sportscaster and television personality with the Columbia Broadcasting System, will throw out the first ball to officially open the 1979 season.

The season opening events will begin with a Little League Parade beginning at Bay St. Louis Junior High School at 11 a.m. and proceeding down Second Street, turn west on Carroll Avenue, and disband at the Little League field on Dunbar Avenue.

According to Murray, Coach Stram said he is honored to be invited to the opening and it means a great deal to him to be part of the Bay St. Louis Little League Kick Off.

"I have always been interested in supporting the youth of our nation and helping them to realize the value of competitive sports," Stram said.

"I feel that this is one of the greatest ways of instilling good sportsmanship and good character in a young person's life. I am proud to take part in this event," he added.

Last year's guest celebrity was Governor Cliff Finch, who has been invited to attend this year's opening.

Stram will be available for pictures and autographs in McDonald Park ball field following the parade.
